CONTENTS.

PAGE

Beetroot-Sugar in France 241
Beggar of Vernon, The 490
Bound to John Company; or the Adventures and Misadventures of Robert Ainsleigh:
Chap. XXX. Treachery recoils on the Traitor . . . 117
XXXI. I make a strange Discovery 123
XXXII. I acquire Certainty 261
XXXIII. On the Track of my Enemy 405
XXXIV. The old Place and the old Folk . . . 503
Brown Lady, The:
Part I. Chap. I. Admonitory 53
II. At Burnham Castle 59
„ II. „ I. The Story of the French Countess . 197
II. Twelfth-Night 208
Central-Asian Question, The 34
Changing the Venue 513
Concerning M. or N. 389
Cycles of the Worlds, The 415
"Feast of Flowers," A 567
Fire and Snow 87
Fragments of an old File: Home News 381
Glamour:
Part I. Chap. I. Dolores 357
II. The Time of Roses 363
III. A "dull gray Life" 368
IV. Calm 373
V. Suspense 377
„ II. „ I. A Resolution 545
II. Engaged 552
III. Danger and Deliverance! . . . 559
Gold 322
Grooves 136
Honeymoons, The. An Autumn Adventure 426
Human Finger and Thumb 220
In Request rather 41
Late Prince Consort, The, as a Composer 469
Letters from Lilliput; being Essays on the Extremely Little:
No. IX. On Little Donkeys 275
X. On a Little Learning—and is it a Dangerous Thing? 533
London Theatres and London Actors:
No. III. Drury-Lane Theatre (continued): Miss Bellamy, John Palmer, Henderson, Mrs. Siddons, Kemble 70
IV. Drury-Lane Theatre (continued): Edmund Kean, Macready, Miss Faucit, Mrs. Glover, "Jack Bannister," "Joe Munden," Stephen Kemble, "Little Knight" 230
V. Drury-Lane Theatre (concluded) — Olympic Theatre: Elliston, Astley, Braham, Madame Vestris 394

164368

PAGE

My Enemy's Daughter. A Novel:
Chap. XIV. An odd Interview and an unexpected Meeting 5
XV. The Heavy Father's Mistake 22
XVI. Again—at last! 149
XVII. A Breaking-up 161
XVIII. "Thou hast it, all!" 167
XIX. Swearing eternal Friendship 293
XX. An Explanation 300
XXI. Exile and Outcast 310
XXII. Rivalry 437
XXIII. A Defeat 441
XXIV. Christina's Intervention 445
XXV. In Kensington-gardens 452
Myths of London, The 49
New Game for Ladies, A 78
Noctambulism 284
On a Certain Passage in "Vanity Fair." An Essay suggested by a Picture in the Royal Academy 345
On Stage Costume, with some Reflections on my Lord Sydney's Rescript 101
Poems:
Beyond 356
Dreaming Sea, The 325
Eve of St. Bartholomew, The 85
First down in the Morning 501
Lovers' Vows 576
Madman's Prayer, The 260
Return of the Bear-hunters, The 468
Spring 181
Voice of Grief, The 292
Political Immorality 526
Serpents and Venomous Snakes. In Two Parts:
Part I. 183
II. 329
Sunday Labour 519
Taking Things easy 176
Told by a Table: an Oxford Sketch 251
Underground Gods 483
White Gunpowder 142
Writing for Money 573

ILLUSTRATIONS

I talk with Lambert after Dinner . Drawn by L. Huard . Frontispiece
Lady Burnham . . . . . F. J. Skill . . 56
The Eve of St. Bartholomew . . . . Thomas Gray . . 85
Flight of Suraja Doulah's Army . . . Alfred Thompson . 118
We meet again . . . . . Louis Huard . . 157
Spring . . . . . R. P. Leitch . . 181
The Apparition . . . . . F. J. Skill . . 218
I inquire after Lady Lestrange . . . Alfred Thompson . 266
"How many Years ago?" . . . . Louis Huard . . 305
The Dreaming Sea . . . . . Alfred Thompson . 325
"My Love is like the red, red Rose" . . Edward Radford . 358
I seek further for Intelligence . . . Alfred Thompson . 408
In Kensington-gardens . . . . Louis Huard . . 456
Return of the Bear-hunters . . . . R. P. Leitch . . 468
First down in the Morning . . . . G. Cruikshank jun. 501
"Silently, like one in a Dream, she obeyed him" Edward Radford . 565